

VISIONNAIRE

Success Case

IT Project Consulting with Software Analysis,
Audit, and Diagnosis

Problem

WoodFlow is a Brazilian platform for international timber trade that connects producers and buyers. To assess an ongoing software project with unclear status, the company conducted a code audit and system diagnosis, and also analyzed its AWS infrastructure to optimize costs and support users during the process.

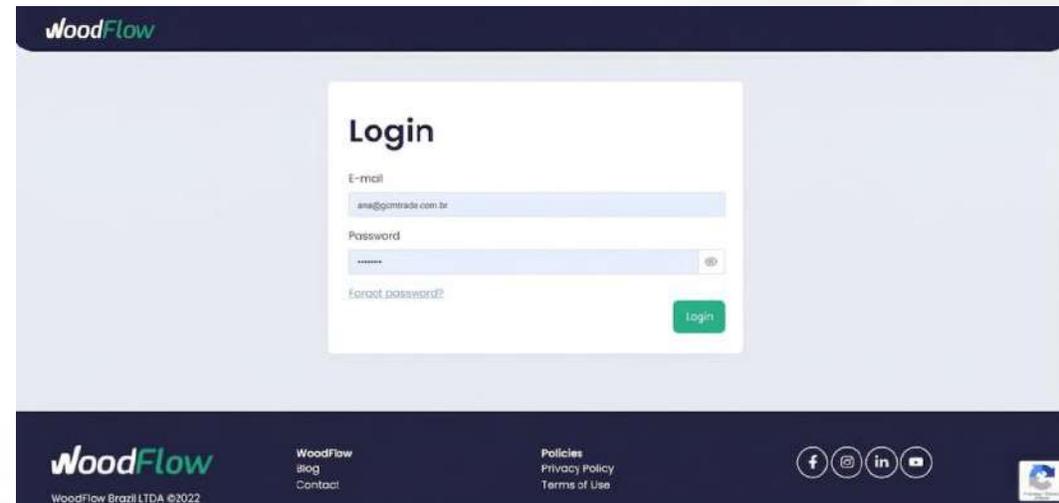

Solution

Visionnaire proposed a consulting engagement to assess WoodFlow's software, including code audit, AWS infrastructure analysis, and user support. Afterward, it recommended continuing the project with agile improvements and further development.

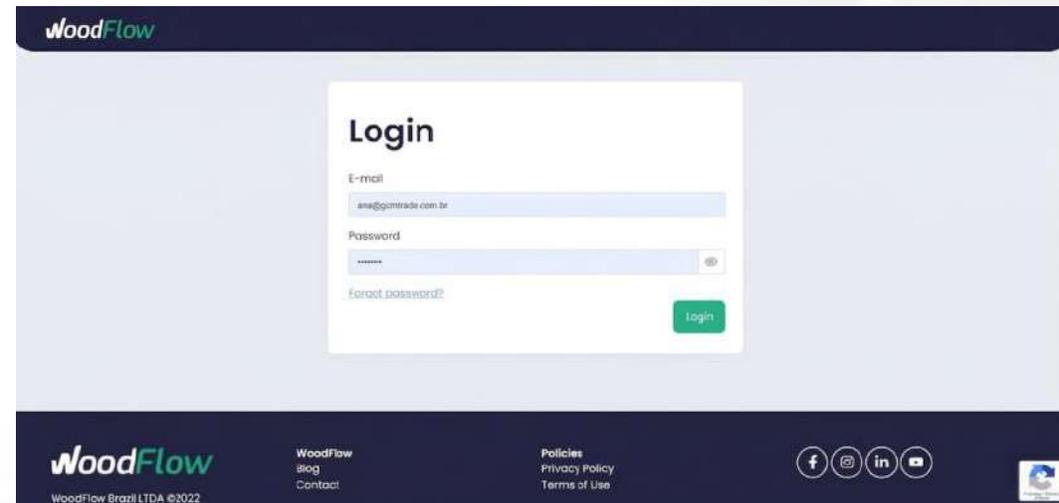

Results

Visionnaire performed a diagnosis, understood the context, and assumed control of the project. The consulting work resulted in cost reductions for WoodFlow of at least two-thirds, achieved through technical expertise without replacing equipment or infrastructure.
